McPherson To Conduct ICC Probe Of PRR Train Crash

Three investigations will be made into the fatal wreck; Atty. Donald P. McPherson, Carlisle St., and Washington, D. C., a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and Henry J. Vinsky, an ICC examiner, will conduct the probe for the ICC; the Public Utility Commission and the Pennsylvania Railroad will conduct other investigations.

HARRISBURG (AP)—The crew of a Pennsylvania Railroad baseball special which derailed and killed 19 persons has reported a section of track repaired a day earlier appeared to weave out of alignment just before the accident in nearby Steelton.

Howard C. Kohout, manager of the PRR's Philadelphia Region who made the announcement at a news conference Monday, added that "what caused this misalignment we don't know."

"Until we weigh all the facts, we cannot come to a conclusion," he said.

Investigators planned to examine the three death cars which tumbled into the Susquehanna River. They were the last three on the nine-car coach carrying fans to a game in Philadelphia Saturday and were the only ones with passengers. Some 100 persons were injured. One of the cars was recovered Monday as salvage operations began. Officials hoped to have the other two recovered by tonight. Two huge diesel cranes dominated the salvage operation.

FAULTY TRAINS

The cars might shed some light on the accident. Among the factors Kohout cited as possible causes of the misalignment were damage by faulty trains, temperature changes and a shift in the roadbed.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has scheduled public hearings into the derailment to open here Aug. 20. The Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission also plans to participate in the investigation.

Kohout confirmed that a repair crew had worked Friday on the section of track involved, including replacement of wooden ties and adjustment of the grade and line.

But he added that the railroad "dare not take action against anyone until the investigation is complete and we are absolutely sure of the cause."

JULY WEATHER CHILLY, DRY, SHORT ON RAIN

It was a chilly and dry July.

The month produced an average temperature of 71.82 degrees, or 4.08 degrees below the normal July average of 75.90 degrees. Only twice during the month did the thermometer rise into the 90's, with a 91 recorded for Saturday, July 7, and a 95 listed for Sunday, July 8.

On two of the 31 days the thermometer readings never exceeded the 60's and on eight days the top listing was in the 70's. On 19 days, readings of 80 to 89 were recorded.

Measurable rain fell on 10 of the 31 days with the only "big rain," 1.39 inches, falling on the evening of July 23.

The rainfall totaled 3.57 inches, or .65 of an inch less than the normal precipitation total of 4.13 inches.

AVERAGE HIGH

Thus the month continued the shortage of rainfall listed for the entire year so far. During the first seven months of 1962 the rainfall has totaled 21.63 inches, or 2.38 inches short of the amount the town normally would have during the first seven months of the year.

The average high for the month was 82.35 degrees, the average low 61.29 degrees.

During the month such records were established as the coldest July 28 in 42 years (the temperature dropped to 51 degrees) and the coldest July 29 since 1924 (the thermometer recorded a low of 54).

Part of the July weather picture was the most damaging hailstorm to strike this section in years. While only small amounts of hail fell in Gettysburg itself, huge pellets of ice pummeled orchards in the Orrtanna and elsewhere in the county and nearby counties causing damage above the $1,000,000 figure.

Court Refuses To Approve An Abortion

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An Arizona housewife who took the drug thalidomide, suspected of causing birth defects, has lost a court battle for a legal abortion.

Almost simultaneously, New York City authorities disclosed that an armless, legless baby had been born to a Queens housewife who took the drug. The child lived less than an hour. It was the city's first reported death involving thalidomide.

The American Medical Association began intensive research into the drug and its effects.

A congressional hearing was scheduled for Wednesday to inquire into what one senator called serious communication weaknesses concerning the drug's suspected crippling power.

The Food and Drug Administration said thalidomide pills had been distributed by doctors in 39 states and the District of Columbia, although none had been sold commercially.

179 BUILDINGS SURVEYED AS CD SHELTERS

Mayor William G. Weaver, Adams County Civil Defense director and shelter officer, has announced that 179 buildings in Adams County have been surveyed by contract engineers working for the 4th U S Naval District. Contract engineer for Adams County is Frederick A. Nassaux and Associates, Chambersburg.

Fallout shelter license or privilege forms have been mailed to the 179 building owners requesting the right to use their sites as public shelters. To date 85 replies have been received by county shelter officers and only three property owners have refused the request. Weaver urged that owners who have not yet replied to the requests answer as soon as possible.

Purpose of the survey was to determine sites suitable for a marking and stocking program on the part of Civil Defense. Shelters which meet prescribed minimum protection and capacity requirements are noted. Preliminary cost estimates are made for improving designated areas to meet minimum shelter requirements or increase capacity, the cost to be borne by the federal government.

FACILITY INSPECTION

Now under way in Adams County is the inspection of previously identified facilities with approved protection factors and physical inspections of selected special facilities.

Benefits which are associated with participation in the National Fallout Shelter survey, marking and stocking program have been listed by officials as follows: By providing employee shelter space the owner is instrumental in their survival and improves his post-attack capability for continued operation.

Location of the shelter identifies the owner as a leader in his community. The shelter is visual evidence of the employer's interest in his employees and this strengthens employer-employee relationships. The existence of the shelter (Continued On Page 3)

POLICE PROBE 2 ACCIDENTS

State police from the local barracks were called Monday to investigate two one-car accidents.

At 2:15 o'clock the officers went to the intersection of a legislative route with the Arendtsville-Brysonia Rd. a mile north of Arendtsville where a 1956 Volkswagen operated by Roger Ecker, 18, of 48 E. Stevens St., failed to negotiate a curve, ran off the road, sideswiped a tree, recrossed the highway and ran into an embankment.

Police estimated damage to the German-made car at $400. They said Timothy Sheely, 20, Red Lion R. 1, a passenger in the car who had his arm out the window, suffered a laceration of the right elbow and a dislocation and fracture of a finger.

The other accident occurred at 3:20 o'clock Monday afternoon two miles east of Littlestown on the Hanover-Littlestown Rd.

Police estimated damage at $300 to a 1961 Cadillac sedan operated by Myriad Redding Maitland, 32, Littlestown R. 2. According to police the Maitland car was driving east when the driver saw a truck backing up the road. To avoid striking the truck she turned the car off the highway and struck an embankment.

HIGHLAND TWP. MERGER VOTE BEFORE BOARD

The Gettysburg Area School Board will hold a special meeting Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the high school here to consider application of Highland Twp. to become a part of the Gettysburg Area School District.

Notices of the special meeting are signed by Horace H. Waybright, vice president of the area board, and Superintendent of Schools H. Edgar Riegle.

According to the notice Highland Twp. School Board wishes to have the residents of the township vote on merging with the area district at the November 6 general election.

TO GET ON BALLOT

To get the question on the ballot the Highland Twp. board must have its petition before the Adams County court by Saturday, August 4.

But before the petition asking the vote can be presented to the court, the township board must have a resolution from the Gettysburg Area School Board stating it is agreeable to having Highland Twp. become a part of the Gettysburg Area School District.

Because action had to be taken by the Gettysburg Area board before Saturday it was decided to have the special meeting Thursday evening. Since the president of the board is absent on vacation, the vice president, Mr. Waybright, called the meeting.

According to the notice, the Gettysburg Area board also will review the tax collectors exoneration lists at the special meeting Thursday and thus will eliminate the need for the regular meeting of the area board previously scheduled for Monday evening, August 6.

Highland Twp. residents had voted down a previous proposal to enter into a merged district. At the time the question of a merger was put to the voters of the area comprising the Gettysburg Joint School District, several years ago, only Gettysburg and Freedom Twp. voted in favor of a merger and thus became the Gettysburg Area School District.

Boy, 7, Struck By Auto On Monday

A seven-year-old bicyclist was severely injured when struck by an automobile while he was pushing his bicycle across Main St., near Fifth St., McSherrystown, Monday at 12:20 p.m.

The bicyclist, Jeffery Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Smith, 309 South St., was taken in the McSherrystown ambulance to the Hanover Hospital, where he was treated for a fractured skull and minor body bruises.

Monday evening the youngster was transferred to the York Hospital. His condition there is listed as serious.

McSherrystown police said the boy was carried about 80 feet on the hood of the car which struck him. Police said the car was operated by William Gerald Lawrence, 17, of 109 Second St., McSherrystown. The bicycle was demolished.

COURT DENIES HABEAS PLEA BY PRISONER

While a wife may not testify against her husband "there is nothing to prohibit police from acting on information received from her," the Adams County court held in an opinion dismissing the habeas corpus proceedings brought by Russel S. Wonder, Hanover R. 3.

Wonder is currently serving concurrent sentences on charges of burglary, larceny, receiving stolen goods, malicious mischief and arson at the State Correctional Institution at Rockview.

In its opinion on the habeas corpus proceeding, the court noted that it previously denied two prior habeas corpus proceedings started by Wonder on technical grounds.

LENGTHY OPINION

On Wonder's third such petition to be released from jail the court wrote a lengthy opinion holding that the facts alleged by Wonder in no way affected his trials and sentencing and therefore were not grounds for a habeas corpus.

Wonder alleged the arresting officers illegally disturbed his property, threw dresser drawers and other articles on the bed and floor and broke a transistor radio and a watch owned by his wife. The court noted that "if true" the allegations would be a basis for a civil action against the officers "but obviously did not affect his trials" on the charges against him.

He held his civil rights were trampled upon by being confined to the "maximum security section of the Adams County jail." The court noted that the Adams County jail has no "maximum security section" and added that, if it had, the court could still not see how that in any way affected Wonder's trials or their results.

Wonder also held that the officers searched his house and found various stolen articles there because his wife informed on him after a quarrel. At that point the court noted that a wife can't testify against a husband, but that the police could go looking at the wife's suggestion.

COUNTIAN DIES IN AMBULANCE

James F. Harner, 51, Littlestown, died suddenly this morning at 9:30 o'clock while being taken in the Littlestown ambulance to the Warner Hospital after suffering a heart attack.

Three grandchildren and these brothers and sisters also survive: Mrs. George Dehoff, Mrs. Richard Weaver, Warren, Evelyn, Dennis and Milton Harner, all of Littlestown.

The deceased was a member of St. John's Lutheran Church, Littlestown.

Funeral services will be held on Thursday at 10 a.m. at the Little's Funeral Home with the Rev. W. C. Karns officiating. Interment in the Mt. Carmel Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home on Wednesday evening.

Government Finds Million Bushels Of Grain Missing In 11 Midwest Warehouses

WASHINGTON (AP)—Agriculture Department investigators have found shortages of about a million bushels in government-owned grain—mostly corn and soybeans—stored in commercial warehouses in the Midwest. The value of the vanished grain was about $1.1 million.

The shortages are the aggregate of 11 individual instances previously reported. In eight of the cases, the government has asked federal courts to appoint receivers for the warehouses and to issue restraining orders against further handling of grain by the warehousemen.

More than two billion bushels of government-owned surplus grains are stored in commercial warehouses and in government bins.

Officials said that additional shortages may be found in the weeks ahead as declining grain supplies are pulling much grain out of storage for commercial use. The declining supplies reflect cutbacks in production and increases in use, both at home and abroad.

ADDITIONAL SHORTAGES

Blissfield, Mich.—Basil & Sons, Inc., shortage of about 273,000 bushels of corn.

Monroe, Mich.—Basil Haddix & Sons Inc., shortage of about 223,000 bushels of corn.

Durland, Mich.—Basil Haddix & Sons Inc., doing business as M & S Elevator, shortage of 26,000 bushels of corn.

Countian Is Held For August Court

Maurice N. Rill, 24, New Oxford R. 2, was held for the August term of court by a York grand jury on Monday on a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

The charge followed a fatal accident last August 12 when a car driven by Rill was involved in a collision with another vehicle driven by Joseph W. Grammer, Baltimore, who died as a result of the accident.

Rill pleaded not guilty on Monday.

At Least 20 Perish And 200 Are Injured As Quake Rocks Areas Of Colombia

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Officials fear the toll will rise from earthquakes that rocked wide areas of central and western Colombia Monday.

First official reports said at least 20 persons died and 200 were injured. Scores of houses were destroyed or damaged. Hundreds were reported homeless.

(Reports reaching Panama said at least 27 persons died in Colombia, 20 of them in the collapse of a factory in Pereira.)

DESTRUCTION NOT KNOWN

The extent of the destruction was not determined immediately, because the earthquakes knocked out communications with a number of areas.

At least 10 communities were reported without electric or telephone service.

Authorities ordered emergency aid rushed to stricken areas and armed forces were called out to help move the injured to hospitals.

OFFICE HOURS OF RED CROSS ARE CHANGED

Changes were made Monday evening in the hours the county chapter of the Red Cross will be open at the July meeting of the chapter's board of directors. Chairman C. P. Keefer, New Oxford, presided.

Beginning this week, the office will be open from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday of each week and will be closed on Saturdays. In recent months the office has been open for those hours on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays and from 9 a.m. until noon on Thursdays and Saturdays.

The changes are being made on advice of the area Red Cross representative in which the chapter's executive secretary, William McCrorie, concurred.

The chapter directors voted to offer the Community Chest organization office space in the Red Cross offices for the Chest campaign headquarters this fall.

JUNIOR PROGRAM

By board action McCrorie will be sent to an eastern regional school on Red Cross home service at Alexandria, Va., August 20-24.

Miss Ruth A. McIlhenny, Junior Red Cross chairman, said her committee will meet in August to plan for Junior Red Cross activities this fall.

Financial reports on the last month were given by the executive secretary showing a general fund balance of $5,338 after $2,125 was received as a quarterly payment from the Community Chest. A year-end financial statement was received from Treasurer J. S. Minnich. A certified public accountant will be employed to make the annual audit of the chapter accounts.

Chairman Keefer said he will appoint a committee in the near future to make a study of the chapter's constitution and bylaws. The chapter's annual meeting will be held in October when chapter officers and one class of directors will be elected and annual reports will be presented.

Monday evening's meeting was held in the chapter offices on Baltimore St.

House Rejects JFK's Fallout Shelter Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has rejected President Kennedy's request for $568 million to launch a fallout shelter program but approved another $80.5 million for other civil defense projects.

The House upheld its Appropriations Committee which had recommended removing Kennedy's $568,755,000 shelter program request from the $11.5-billion omnibus bill financing 26 federal agencies.

Kennedy had asked the funds to begin a program of shelter construction, research and development under the Department of Defense. He also had asked $41,455,000 for stockpiling of medical supplies by the Public Health Service but the House voted only $5.5 million.

The House approved $10 million for Civil Defense research and study and $65 million to continue the present Civil Defense program.

In all, the House trimmed about a billion dollars from various administration requests.

COUNCIL KILLS SEWAGE PLANS IN FAIRFIELD

Plans for a sewage system in Fairfield are "dead."

That was the decision of Fairfield Borough Council at a special meeting Monday evening in the Fairfield Jointure School. Meeting with the council were members of the Fairfield Municipal Authority, Attorney Charles Wolf, Engineer William Sees, of Harrisburg, other borough officials, and a number of residents of the town.

The decision of the council came after brief discussion. All members of the council had been presented with a "feasibility report" by Engineer Sees about six weeks ago which showed the proposed sewage system would cost about $260,000.

MINDS MADE UP

Most of the members of council had made up their minds to abandon the project before the meeting began. Frank Moore, secretary of the council, also noted, "I believe the members of the municipal authority were also unanimous in opposing the project at this time, although since no vote was taken by the authority one cannot be absolutely sure. But a number spoke strongly against any plan to add $260,000 debt to the borough, especially when we have only 310 taxpayers."

The town presently is engaged in paying off the $171,000 cost of the water system installed about six years ago.

Thomas Newman, president of the borough council, presided at the special meeting. Six of the seven council members voted for the resolution "killing" the plan for a sewage system. The seventh member, Dr. James Hammett, was called from the meeting prior to the vote and thus did not have an opportunity to register his decision on the matter.

Secretary Moore said that the $260,000 estimate "included the use of the wage scale set by the state." He gave no estimate of how much cheaper the project would have been had the normal wage scales for this area been the basis for the estimate. Council began debating the possibility of establishing a sewer system for the town last February when it was learned that the school system was enlarging its structure and would need additional sewage disposal equipment.

SOCIETY HAS OLD BOOK OF AUTOGRAPHS

Recently Mrs. Harry C. Warner, 357 Adams Ave., Pomona, Calif., presented the Adams County Historical Society with the autograph book of her grandfather, the Rev. Alexander C. Kuss (1833-1903), while he was a student at the Lutheran Theological Seminary here a century ago.

Rev. Kuss was a native of Prussia. He was graduated from the seminary in 1863, ordained into the Lutheran ministry, and served four parishes in New York and Canada before retiring in 1898. He was at one time superintendent of an orphanage at Sulphurburg College he made friends there and about one fourth of the entries were made by college students in May 1863.

McKNIGHT ENTRY

Harvey W. McKnight, who later became president of the college, wrote "Friend Kuss" on May 25, 1863: "Let your motto ever be, I live for those that love me. For those that know me true, For the heaven that shines above me, and the good that I can do." Several days earlier a student who later became president of Muhlenberg College wrote a Bible verse as his contribution to the book. Another student reminded Kuss that the devil quotes scripture for his own purposes.

Ike Proposes New School To Foster Peace

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower proposed today the creation of an international university, with United Nations help, to promote world peace and mutual understanding.

The former president spoke before the 11th assembly of the World Confederation of Organizations of the Teaching Profession.

More than 400 delegates and observers from almost 80 nations heard Eisenhower. He is here on a vacation.

"I should like to suggest one final thought that, as a private citizen and without any authority, I leave before you. It is the possibility of creating an international school as a new and different kind of clearing house for world thinking and teaching and learning in the vast field of human relations," Eisenhower said.

"OBJECTIVE TRUTH"

"On the campus of such a college would be gathered an international faculty of scholars whose concern would be objective truth, pursued of national and regional bias, hatred and prejudices.

"To procure such a faculty the United Nations General Assembly might want to call upon such organizations as yours for assistance and nominations. Thereby the college would be guarded against seizure by rigid doctrinaires, propagandists and proselytizers.

"Such a world institution would be dedicated to the education of young people, particularly in world history, diplomacy, politics, international communication and teaching."

HOME STRETCH IN BIG LOOPS NOW UNDERWAY

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The American League leading New York Yankees and the National League leading Los Angeles Dodgers head into the countdown stage of the 1962 baseball season today riding parallel lines toward the same objective.

And the big question remains: Can the two pacesetters continue their side-by-side march to an October meeting in the World Series with a doubtful status hovering over two of the game's brightest lights — swollen-kneed Mickey Mantle and numb-fingered Sandy Koufax.

Mantle, whose multi-paged medical history covers his anatomy from head (tonsillectomy) to foot (osteomyelitis) and surrounds lots of time in between, came up with a new entry Monday when he was forced to sit out the second All-Star game.

IDLE 3 GAMES

The latest injury to the Yankee slugger, involving the same thigh that was hurt in May and kept him sidelined for a month, will keep Mantle idle for at least the three-game series that begins at Washington tonight and raises the curtain on the last third of the season.

Koufax, one of three pitchers to hurl a no-hitter this season, was heading for a strikeout record when the numb finger impaired his effectiveness. He'll be on the sidelines when the Dodgers resume action Wednesday night at Pittsburgh.

The Yankees, who like the Dodgers have held first place without a break since July 8 and took their biggest lead of the year over the weekend, will send Bill Stafford, 8-6, against Claude Osteen, 5-7, of the Senators while Mantle looks on.

TWINS VS. ORIOLES

While the Yankees tackle Washington, the Angels will send Elia Grba, 6-5, against Cleveland's Jim Perry, 8-8, in an effort to gain ground against a club that has lost 13 of its last 16 games. Minnesota's third-place Twins, 5½ behind, are at Baltimore in the only other game scheduled in either league.

In that one, Camilo Pascual, the American League's winningest pitcher with a 15-6 record, will test the tender elbow that forced him out of the All-Star classic. He'll face the Orioles' Jack Fisher, 2-3.

The Dodgers will be host to the fourth-place Pirates in the headliner of the Wednesday program that gets play under way again in the National League.

Gains of key stocks went from fractions to 2 points or more.

At another point Morse challenged the accuracy of a statement by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., the Democratic whip, or assistant leader.

GALILEE AREA IS SITE FOR MYERS TRIPS

Early on the morning of July 15, Dr. Jacob Myers and his Holy Land tourists began a trip around the northern end of the Sea of Galilee, which has been called the Cradle of Christianity. The first important site is ancient Magdala, the town of Mary Magdalene. A mile or so further on is Tabgha, the site of the feeding of the Five Thousand; and around the next bend the remains of the old city of Capernaum which has been excavated. The streets of the oldest city are plainly visible with its shops, win and olive presses and mills.

At the northern end of the city are remains of a second or third century synagogue, probably on the site of an earlier one where Jesus preached. Just above Capernaum is the Church of the Beatitudes, the traditional place of the Sermon on the Mount. Proceeding up the road toward Lake Huleh, no longer in existence because it has been drained and filled in so that it is now a fertile its waters and view the spectacle of the rising sun across the Syrian hills turning the rippling waters into millions of rubies are really indescribable experiences.

BLOODY SAFED

About 25 or 30 kilometers farther on is the city of Safed, over which so much blood was spilled in the war of 1947 and which is said to have been delivered only through the prayers of the pious Jewish residents. In ancient times it was a great center of Jewish learning and the seat of the Kabbalists, a group of those who believed that there were two meanings of Scripture — the literal and the secret. Today it is only a town of about 10,000 inhabitants but growing rapidly into a great summer resort. There is always a breeze blowing through its well-wooded central park and its benches are full of sitters.

The way from Safed to Acre is a delightful one, rather full of curves but the road is in excellent shape. One sees enormous olive groves, some with trees more than a thousand years old. In Bible times this was the territory of Asher which furnished the oil for the royal household. Elsewhere it is so rocky that the people say when the Lord was through creating the world He had a bag of stones left and poured them on this place. Acre was once a fortress city located on the northern side of Haifa Bay and figured prominently in the wars between Richard the Lion-hearted and Saladin in the 12th century. It is populated largely by Arabs and only a few miles south of the Lebanese border. Its population today is around 20,000.

The heavy industry of Israel is located south, along the bay of Haifa, between Acre and Haifa itself. The area looks like Pittsburgh. There are steel mills, cement factories, refineries and a host of other industries. Haifa is the only harbor of Israel on the Mediterranean coast and has facilities for handling medium-sized ships. This is perhaps the cleanest city in the country. It is said that the mayor drives through the streets every morning at 5 o'clock to see how his city cleaners are functioning. The city is located on Mt. Carmel, made famous by Elijah's contest with the prophets of Baal.

Here also is the Technicon, a famous institution for research in the industrial arts. Here too is the Bahai shrine with its golden dome and lovely gardens. The Bahai temple is in Chicago but this is the home of the cult. The group went to see a Druze village on top of the range and took pictures. There are very clean people, well-dressed and happy.

The drive to Tel Aviv was pleasant, though hot. The road looks like any highway in the U.S.A., road building, trucks, cars, furious driving, local police and everything one meets on U. S. macadam roads. There are fields of corn, sorghum, orange groves, olives, peanuts and cotton. Everywhere trees are being planted and the land is taking on new life. There is tremendous building going on in the cities and suburbs. There are virtually no private houses here; everyone lives in apartments. A four-room apartment with kitchen and bath may cost as much as $25,000, depending on location — the upper floors are the most expensive.

VISIT CAESAREA

On the way to Tel Aviv, the group stopped for an hour at ancient Caesarea where St. Paul was once imprisoned. The town was founded by Herod the Great and named after his friend and benefactor, Augustus Caesar. It has been excavated to some extent — the Roman theater has been uncovered as well as some of glass in the light of the morning sun. The Sea of Galilee is about 14 miles long and five or six miles wide; it is 632 feet below sea level; the lowest body of water in the world. To bathe in grain producing area, one gets a fine view of the Sea of Galilee which appears like a huge sheet of the harbor fortifications of the period of the Crusaders. Some parts are being reconstructed. Nearby is the only golf course in Israel — always closed on Monday.

In Tel Aviv we saw the Mann encourages employees to learn essential survival techniques to increase the survival capability of their family and friends. Public stature is enhanced by the owner's provision of a shelter for the neighboring public and the owner may save his own life.

ENTRY LICENSE

When a building owner grants an entry license, he offers use of a portion of his building, without remuneration, during and after an actual or impending attack upon the United States, and agrees to the placement of shelter stock upon the premises for emergency use. Shelter stocks may be placed either in the shelter area or immediately adjacent to it.

The political subdivision agrees to maintain the shelter stocks provided by the Department of Defense. The owner has no responsibility for care or maintenance of stock and is not liable for loss or damage to stock, willful damage and bad faith excepted. The license is binding upon the owner's heirs, but the government's rights can be terminated upon 90-day prior notice to the local and federal government.

By signing the entry license, the owner grants permission for fallout shelter signs upon his premises, with the sign site locally coordinated with the owner. The license does not include the use of premises for tests and exercises. The owner may exclude any area of his building from shelter use by stating his exclusion on the entry license.

Under terms of the Civil Defense Act, property owners are immunized from liability when licensing their premises, without compensation, for use as a public fallout shelter. The National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters has also agreed that designated areas will be considered as necessary or incidental to the premises and covered under general liability policies without additional premium charge.

It is the largest city in Israel, with a population of around 400,000 people. Everywhere one sees schools — all new and modern in every respect. Just south and adjoining Tel Aviv is Jaffa, the ancient Joppa, which is mentioned in Egyptian inscriptions. From here Jonah is said to have embarked on his fateful voyage to escape the mission of the Lord. Here also was the house of Simon the Tanner and the home of Tabitha. Today it is inhabited mostly by Arabs, about 8,000 of them.

and the time of the accident, perhaps a dozen trains had traveled over that particular section of track without any difficulty, Kohout estimated.

He added that only two hours earlier a mail train had passed and reported nothing unusual. There was no evidence of sabotage, he said, nor were speed and weight distribution considered as likely causes.

The train was traveling at approximately 70 miles-per-hour, Kohout said, but that was well within the 75 MPH speed limit for that straight stretch of track.

"Speed might have been a factor in the severity of the accident but not a cause," he said. "The weight distribution of passengers may be disregarded because the equipment is very heavy."

OTHER STOPS AHEAD

All of the approximately 120 passengers aboard were in the last three cars of the train—the only cars to hurtle the 40-foot embankment.

Other stops were planned at Elizabethtown, Lancaster and Coatesville along the 100-mile route to Philadelphia.

Kohout indicated that the Engineer, J. F. Shue of Royalton, Pa., realized something was amiss and tried to stop just about the time the cars derailed. However, he said, the train apparently was still accelerating when the last cars bounced off the rail.

Shue stopped the electric engine about 1,000 feet down the track and remained near the unit to warn approaching trains, Kohout said, adding:

CREW IS CLEARED

"We're satisfied that the crew did what they're supposed to do," Shue said he sensed trouble, adding:

"I applied the brakes to emergency stop and held them there as hard as I could."

Kohout said the railroad and state police officials are satisfied all the bodies were recovered.

The rails have been repaired and opened to traffic. The recovery scene was in sharp contrast to the rescue scene last Saturday. Then there were thousands of men and women at the site, some working, some watching, some crying, some screaming.

EARTH IS SCORCHED

Monday it was just quiet.

The earth was scorched from a fire triggered by high tension wires knocked down by the careening cars. It was dusty and hot. Sweat poured from the men as they worked.

Time and time again, as the crewmen worked, passenger trains would pass by — curious spectators peering from their windows and pointing.

Also at the scene were several of the railroaders who had witnessed the accident.

One of them was Sam Magaro, a railroad worker who helped in rescue operations Saturday night. But, like most of the people in Steelton, Sam didn't want to talk about it.

"It was a horrifying thing to see," he said. "I hope I never have to go through anything like that again. It hit me hardest after it was over."

A housewife in Steelton echoed Magaro's remarks.

"It's something we'll have a hard time forgetting," she said. She spoke for many others.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and
The Gettysburg Times

FIFTY YEARS AGO
New Electric Sign: Hotel Gettysburg has had a large electric sign placed on the portico. Attractive awnings have been placed at a number of the windows.

$250,000 To The Parker Fund:
A quarter of a million dollars was the estimate which August Belmont, testifying before the senate committee investigating campaign contributions, placed on the contributions to the Democratic national committee in 1904. "Did you expect any favors?" he was asked. "On the contrary, Judge Parker understood from me that there would be nothing I could accept." "Nor did you expect to have any special legislation?" "None whatever. There was no interest with which I was connected that could be helped by special legislation." Mr. Belmont was unable to give an estimate of the total of the funds at the disposal of the committee but he "guessed" it was not more than $600,000 or $700,000.

Busy Days At New Factory:
With thirty-five men now at work at the new plant of the Gettysburg Furniture Company, the finished product of the factory, handsome oak china closets, will be turned out commencing next week. The number of men to be employed at the plant after everything is in operation will be about equal to that of the Reaser Furniture Co., or about 115. Many of the employees will come from out of town adding materially to the population of Gettysburg, a direct outcome of successful manufacturing enterprise.

Announce Engagement: At a reception given this morning by Miss Ruth Clutz for her sister, Mrs. Peters, of Pittsburgh, the engagement of Miss Clutz and Mark K. Eckert was announced.

Arendtsville: Several days ago when William Eyster was picking raspberries on the old Eli Leach home in Franklin township he came across a den of snakes. He succeeded in killing one rattler that had 13 rattles and a button and five large copperheads. Five more made their escape. The place is noted for snakes. Two years ago Charles Eicholtz killed fourteen copperheads in one den and quite a number of persons have been bitten by snakes at that place.

Killed On Roller Coaster: As the result of his own carelessness Thomas Blair of Newville was fatally hurt on the roller coaster at Mount Holly Springs, dying from his injuries. It was Blair's third trip over the coaster. He failed to observe the words on a board, which read "Hold your hat and keep your seat." He insisted on standing up, although a little girl in the same car with him, Rosalie Johnson, told him to sit down. Two Valley Traction Company men on the grounds saw him use his feet in an effort to check the speed of the car. This indiscretion resulted in Blair falling outside the car, between it and the friction board. He did not fall to the ground. As his car fell back the other car crashed into it. Blair's body and head were wedged tightly causing a crushing of the breastbone and both jaws. He died later at Todd Hospital.

Manual Training Will Be Given: Gettysburg High School will open its session in September with a manual training department equipped for use. The action taken by the Parent Teachers' Association several months ago looking forward to this end has been followed up and sufficient subscriptions have been received to warrant ordering the equipment. Miss Nora Kieffer, the new member of the faculty, will have charge of the manual training work. She has had some experience along this line and this summer has been taking special work in manual training at Columbia University.

Today's Talk

THE WASTE BASKET
I couldn't work in an office without a waste basket. It is one of the most useful of all office necessities.

People file away too much, save too much and give too much attention to things that should go quickly into the waste basket.

The waste basket helps to keep the desk clean and the mind clear. It is also a great aid to quick and positive decisions. No business training is complete without an intelligent appreciation of the use to which waste baskets should be put.

A newspaper office is a valuable place to visit. After the day is over most newspaper offices look as though a cyclone had struck them. But in the morning they are clean and orderly — ready for the battle of news again. The rule of the newspaper office is to be concise and clear in expression and to file away as little as possible.

There is little to be said for the save and accumulate habit. It only helps to clog the wheels of progress and advancement.

That which is not useful becomes mere rubbish.

A business office is fairly well equipped when there is a chair, a desk and a waste basket. Then all that is necessary is for a man with ideas to sit in that office and start his career.

And while I am on the subject wouldn't it be a fine idea to have a waste basket right near the mind into which might go all the trivial thoughts of the day and all the unkind and ungenerous impulses?

We don't sift enough. We don't throw enough away!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Before Breakfast"

Just Folks

BICKERING
I can stand rooms in disarray
But not ill temper's harsh display.

I can stand hallways blocked with toys
And childhood's oft-repeated noise.

I can stand carpets tracked with mud,
But petty quarrels chill my blood.

I can stand untroubled wreckage see,
But from an angry word I flee.

Rather than orderly and neat,
I'd keep the home a refuge sweet.

Where happily the children play,
Are glad to be, and glad to stay;

A place, what'er the days may bring,
That's never marred by bickering.

Pavement Exploded: Bang! With this report the intersection of two cement blocks on the cemetery walk at New Oxford burst asunder. And the blocks were lifted on and about 8 inches above the level. The cause was the intense heat and workmen on the state road and spectators were frightened somewhat at the terrible noise. The edges were chipped and the blocks relaid.

Children To Meet: All the children in Gettysburg between the ages of seven and fourteen are requested to meet in the Wizard Theatre at six o'clock this evening to practice for their day during Chautauqua week. The regular Chautauqua Chorus will hold its practice in St. James Church.

Tennis Match: On Tuesday afternoon the team representing Gettysburg College in tennis will meet the strong Chambersburg Club on the local college courts. Gettysburg will be represented by Prof. A. R. Wentz, Frank W. Moser and C. D. Fleagle.

PLAYERS NOT HAPPY ABOUT 2 STAR CALLS

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The second guess, usually reserved for fans and sportswriters, and always frowned upon by players and managers, was used freely by participants in Monday's All-Star game in which the American League defeated the National League 9-4.

The American League players, celebrating their home-run packed victory, couldn't understand how the official scorers could give Tommy Davis an error on a drive by Rocky Colavito in the third inning.

And the National Leaguers still were shaking their heads over a call by umpire Ken Burkhardt in which he ruled Hank Aaron of Milwaukee had trapped the ball instead of catching it.

MADE NO DIFFERENCE
Neither incident really made much difference in the outcome of the lopsided and somewhat sloppy contest in which the Nationals committed four errors and contributed two of the game's three wild pitches.

It was in the third inning when Colavito, the Detroit slugger, hit a ball to the left-field wall. Davis crashed into the wall and dropped the ball for a two-base error.

"I hit the wall and my sun glasses flipped down," said Davis, "and lost sight of the ball. It doesn't make any difference to me what they called — a hit or an error."

Colavito thought he was robbed of a hit. Manager Ralph Houk nearly fell off his chair in the dressing room when he learned it was an error.

Leon Wagner of Los Angeles was the toast of the American League's dressing room. Wagner slammed a two-run homer, a pair of singles and made one of the finest catches of the game when he raced in to make a diving grab of George Altman's shallow fly in the fourth inning.

Pete Runnels of Boston, who, along with Colavito, contributed the other American home runs, said, "It makes you kinda glad inside, no matter how good a hitter you are."

Despite the victory, all was not joy in the American League dressing room. Standing dejectedly in one corner was mighty Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees.

"I wanted to play very much," said Mantle, "but now I don't know when I'll be able to play."

Mantle, out a month earlier in the season, pulled a muscle against the Chicago White Sox Sunday. He tested the left leg in pregame drills and had to tell Houk he couldn't play.

STAYS AT PENN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — John Steigman, head football coach at the University of Pennsylvania, says he is not a candidate for the head job at Williams College, his alma mater.

Steigman, who has two years to run on his four-year Penn contract, said he met with officials from Williams College Monday "at their request," primarily to discuss "the basis of all these rumors I've been hearing."

CUPPER SPIRIT HIGH AS TEAM FACES MEXICO

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP)—Donald Dell and Frank Froehling, both on inactive duty with the U.S. Davis Cup tennis team, were due to swing into action in opening-round matches of the Eastern Grass Court Championships today.

Dell and Froehling, who practiced with the U.S. cup squad in Mexico City last week, both predicted an American victory over the Mexicans in the semifinal match of the American zone.

"I think we'll win, 3-2 or maybe as much as 4-1," Dell said.

SPIRIT GREAT

"The spirit under the new captain, Bob Kelleher, is terrific, and all the players have been improving by practicing with Pancho Gonzalez every day."

Froehling said. "But he improves us just by playing with us. He doesn't let up at all. He plays every point as if it were for blood."

Froehling, the lanky slugger from Coral Gables, Fla., is fourth-seeded in the Easterns, with Dell, a University of Virginia law student from Bethesda, Md., fifth-seeded. Whitney Reed, of Alameda, Calif., is top-seeded.

STEEL HOPES LEAN PERIODS ARE FINISHED

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Steelmen are hoping that their days of taking it on the chin are coming to an end. They took a one-two punch in the second quarter.

First, in April they were hit hard when they tried to raise prices and President Kennedy forced them to back away. Then their business fell off sharply, as their earnings reports of recent days make painfully clear.

Some hope that August will be the turning point. Most expect no marked pickup in orders and production until after Labor Day. And a few, smarting from their hurts, fear a general recession is in the making that might keep the customers away from their mills for several months more.

GAINS OVER 1961
But weak as the second quarter earnings of most of the companies look, the industry still can boast a gain over 1961 for the half year.

With some of the big ones yet to be heard from—including U.S. Steel late this afternoon—reports of 19 steel firms show all but five doing better in the first six months of 1962 than in the like period of 1961.

Combined, the 19 earned $187,980,624 in the half year just ended, a gain of 47.4 per cent over $127,528,730 of the same 19 in the like period last year.

FACE BEHIND
However, the last part of this period, the April-June quarter, saw a big drop. Eleven of the companies fell behind their earnings in the second quarter of 1961. Combined, they had $68,948,834 net income after taxes, against $89,482,593 the previous year, a decline of 22.9 per cent.

Steel's first quarter had worn a fever flush from unusual buying by customers worried about the chance of a strike or price rise. Also, the January-March quarter figures were compared with the quarter in 1961 when the last recession was at its deepest. The second quarter of 1962 saw steel's customers assured there would be no strike and no price hike. So they used up the stocks they'd bought earlier and held off ordering.

MAY BE ENDING
This period may be coming to an end.

The U.S. Department of Commerce says:
"In contrast with the sharp cut-back in steel production, consumption of finished steel has been increasing steadily in recent months. In the past two months consumption has substantially exceeded production as using industries have drawn on stocks piled up earlier in the year as a strike lifeline."

The department reports a drop of about one million tons in the stocks of finished steel during May and expects June figures will show another big reduction. Along with cautious customers, the steel industry has been plagued by increasing competition from other materials, such as aluminum copper and plastics. Steelmen are fighting back now, seeking new uses for their product.

Resistance Fighter Gets Life Sentence

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — A World War II resistance fighter who hid out in a war-time bunker and turned armed robber was sentenced to life in prison Friday, press reports said.

Andrzej Kiszka was convicted of murder and robbery. But the court declined to order the death penalty asked by the prosecution because of Kiszka's resistance role and aid in helping Jews escape persecution, the newspaper Kurier Polski said.

ENGINEER HIT TRAIN BRAKES AT TOP SPEED

STEELTON, Pa. (AP)—John F. Shue, 61-year-old veteran engineer, said Monday he jammed on the emergency brakes of the doomed baseball special when he first sensed trouble.

The three last cars of his train overturned into the Susquehanna River late Saturday, causing the death of 19 baseball fans of all ages and injury to scores of others.

"I had a little rough track," Shue said. "I can't say what I saw; there's an investigation pending. But that was my first indication."

REGULAR RUN
Shue dives at 100 Penn St., Royaltown, and his regular run is from Harrisburg to Philadelphia and New York.

He was taking his first baseball special out of Harrisburg to Philadelphia for a Phillies-Pirates game Saturday night. Normally, he gets a few of these baseball special runs each summer, but Saturday was his first such assignment this season.

Shue said he eased his nine-car train out into the main line at 5:02 p. m.

His train was rolling along at top speed five minutes later when Shue said he sensed something wrong.

APPLIED BRAKES
"I applied the brakes to emergency stop," he said, "and held them there as hard as I could. I was watching behind me to see if I had all my cars. Then the three back at the end broke loose. I saw a cloud of dust. I saw poles knocked down. I guess there were three or four, but a couple more were damaged."

High voltage electric wires are suspended on the poles, over the railroad tracks. "I knew it was going to be terrible back there," Shue said. "I guess I'll keep on working if I go on living and I'm lucky."

Cambodian Leaders Quit Government

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Cambodian government, including its chief prince Norodom Sihanouk, resigned Saturday. It is expected to be reappointed within the next few days.

A collective letter of resignation was sent to the newly-elected National Assembly, which theoretically could choose a new government. However, all 77 members of the National Assembly were picked by the ruling Sangkum party and there is no possibility of political upheaval.

have risen this year. Some 1.7 million tons were imported in the first five months, against a million a year ago. Lower production costs have helped the foreign mills to compete. But another reason for the increased flow is that in a number of steel producing countries capacity has now been built up enough to satisfy the home needs and leave a surplus for export.

F. SINATRA JR. WANTS TO SING

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — The frail, young singer belted out a familiar Cole Porter tune as if the song had just been written for him.

He caressed the lyrics and swung with the beat. The sound was so familiar—and the setting, too—that it could have been 1939. Even the bobby-soxers stopped twisting to gather around him bandstand as they used to do.

But it wasn't 1939. It was Saturday night, July 28, 1962, at Disneyland. The singer—Frank Sinatra Jr., age 18.

Young Sinatra, not officially embarked yet on a professional career, approached the Elliot Brothers band in the Disneyland plaza and asked for a chance to sing.

"The kid's good," said Bill Elliott. "I let him sing for a guest appearance because his name is Sinatra. But I'd sign him permanently even if his name were Joe Smith."

Frank Jr. may talk it over with Frank Sr.

HARRISBURG (AP)—The state Aeronautics Commission has undertaken a study of the feasibility of equipping Pennsylvania's small airports with lighting and instrument landing facilities.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dutch-Indonesian talks resume today in an attempt to head off a war over the Dutch-held western half of New Guinea.

Negotiators for both sides met Sunday with mediator Ellsworth Bunker, retired U.S. diplomat, at a secluded estate in nearby Middleburg, Va. Diplomatic informants said the talks went well.

MOSCOW (AP) — The French Embassy announced its air attaché, Col. Louis Guibaud, shot himself to death in his office Monday morning.

First Secretary Philippe Husson would give no motive, but said Col. Guibaud, a married man, 42, had given evidence lately of a state of nervous depression.

One of the dead, Maj. James E. Mills, 35, of the Royal Army Service Corps, was one of Britain's most experienced mountaineers. The other man was identified as Capt. M. F. M. Jones, 28, of the Royal Fusiliers.

Ride Coaster 283 Times For Charity

CONNEAUT LAKE, Pa. (AP) — Two southwestern Pennsylvania disc jockeys took 283 consecutive roller coaster rides for charity at Conneaut Lake Park over the weekend.

But their attempt for a record in roller coaster rides could not match the 303 rides in a row taken by another disc jockey from Omaha, Neb.

Brian Emory of WGRP in Greenville and Dick Lepley of WMWG in Meadville collected more than $900 in their nearly 14-hour stint that started at 10:10 a. m. Saturday.

For each ride the park donated $1.00 and a bottling company matched the sum. In addition, people watching the stunt also contributed. The money went to Camp Lehigh-Hand for Crippled Children here.

Paul Oscar Anderson of KOIL in Omaha set what he claims is the new record in rides made at Council Bluffs, Iowa, over the weekend.

SALISBURY, Md. (AP) — Five teen-agers, spending the summer at Ocean City, have been charged with larceny and illegal possession of alcoholic beverages following their arrest at an appliance store.

Four were released on $300 bond Saturday. They included Joseph Francis Raymond, 19, Johnstown, Pa.

DREAM BOAT IS SET ON FIRE, 5 YEARS WORK

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — In 1957, George F. Stamper, a former Oklahoma cowboy and B29 bomber pilot, got an idea. He would build a 14-ton, 60-foot model of the four-masted, 16th century British man-o-war, HMS Elizabeth Jones.

Stamper, 38, a pipe fitter and lay preacher for San Jose's East Side Church of Christ, bought the ship's plans from the British Museum for $2.50.

He built his boat in a vacant lot, putting much of his energy and $5,000 into the project. He figured she would be ready in 1964.

PLANS ALL SET
Then he would haul it 10 miles to San Francisco Bay. From there he would sail it to the Gulf of California and set it up as a missionary base of operations.

By Sunday morning, the boat's hull was three-quarters completed and its interior was started.

He was back where he started today, however. Sunday night, Stamper's 20th century dream out of the 16th century went up in smoke.

Firemen say they suspect neighborhood children set the fire.

G.S. Girl Scout News

Those attending were: Frieda Hankey, Norine Lovett, Betty Ann Harding, Pamela Eckert, Pat Black, Linda Oyer, Mary Ann Hartzell, Karen Riley, Mary Ann Redding, Cecilia Knox, Kay Sneeringer, Maxine Hess, Ann Steinhorn, Becky Riley, Phyllis Dillman, and senior aide, Miss Vicky Shetter. Two counts of kidnapping; two counts of assault with intent to kill; two counts of robbery; carrying a concealed weapon, and escape.

Andrews 24, of Millville, could get a life sentence on a kidnapping charge alone.

He pleaded guilty to the eight charges Friday.

As he was being driven here in a sheriff's van July 20, he drew a gun that had been smuggled to him and shot Deputy Sheriff Frank Jaski four times.

He then held the other guard, Harry Fillius Sr., and a motorist, Leon Lloyd, captive for several hours. He was recaptured last Saturday in a Philadelphia bus station.

Wedding

Rosensteel—Ogle
White carnations, gladioli and roses decorated the altars at St. Andrew Roman Catholic Church, Waynesboro, Saturday morning for the 10 a. m. nuptial mass that united in marriage Miss Frances Keiholtz Ogle, Wayne Bldg., Emmitsburg, and George F. Rosensteel, Emmitsburg, Md.

The Rev. Thomas J. Gralinski officiated at the double-ring ceremony performed in the presence of 200 guests.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harvey B. Ogle, Rocky Ridge, Md., and Mr. Rosensteel is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James A. Rosensteel, Emmitsburg.

Mrs. Lloyd J. LaCasse played a recital of wedding selections and traditional wedding marches. Given in marriage by her brother, John J. Ogle, Thurmont, Md., the bride wore an ice pink linen dress detailed in lace. She complemented her gown with matching pink linen slippers, a pink organza hat and carried a prayer book graced with white roses, showered with white satin ribbon and baby's breath.

RECEPTION IS HELD
Miss Amelia A. Rossi, Waynesboro, as maid of honor, wore a blue linen dress styled like the bride's and added matching blue linen slippers and a blue organza hat. She carried a nosegay of blue and white carnations.

A reception followed the ceremony in St. Andrew parish hall. Mrs. Charles Valentine, sister of the bride, was in charge of the reception. Mrs. Rayner Montgomery, another sister of the bride, served wedding cake. Mrs. Chester Zentz, sister of the bride; Mrs. Lloyd Sease, daughter of the bride; Mrs. George E. Rosensteel and Mrs. John Rosensteel, daughters-in-law of the bridegroom, presided at the punch bowl.

PROBE INFANT DEATH IN N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP)—The city ordered an investigation Monday into the first reported infant death here in which the drug thalidomide was involved.

Dr. George James, acting city health commissioner, said he had ordered the probe.

A 43-year-old woman, he said, gave birth to a deformed child in a Queens hospital and the child died shortly after birth.

Dr. James said the woman had received the drug from a Park Avenue psychiatrist who was treating her and that she became pregnant during treatment.

Dr. James declined to identify the principals immediately.

The psychiatrist, Dr. James continued, had ordered a quantity of thalidomide for tranquilizing purposes.

White House HAS EDINBURG IN ENGLAND

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP)—A geographical scot in the White House has a number of Scots irked.

Someone in President Kennedy's office addressed a letter: "Edinburgh, England."

Edinburgh is, of course, the capital of Scotland.

REAL FAUX PAS
Calling a Scotsman an Englishman is like calling an Alabamian a Yankee.

What happened was this: A Scottish newspaper, the Weekly Scotsman, is running a series on Scottish clans. When the story of the clan Kennedy was published, the editor sent a copy to the White House.

LETTER TO EDITOR
The editor was delighted to receive a letter from President Kennedy's office, thanking him for forwarding the information about the clan Kennedy.

But the address on the envelope was: "The Weekly Scotsman, North Bridge, Edinburgh, England."

That did it.

Under a large headline the current issue of the paper says: "Oh, Mr. Kennedy—not a very good way to make friends and influence people."

Steam Buffs Get Chance For Rides

ARCADE, N. Y. (AP) — A gleaming steam engine, and the two bright orange platform coaches it pulls 15 miles along their Western New York route, mark the bold re-entry of the Arcade & Attica Railroad into a rapidly declining field — railroad passenger service.

Most railroads have been cutting back on passenger service today, but the Arcade & Attica inaugurated Friday its return to the field by carrying 75 stockholders, boosters, politicians, steam buffs and hangers-on from Arcade up through the hills of Wyoming County to Curriers.

Enroute, a group of masked youngsters staged a holdup and some unrehearsed cows forced the train to stop when they loped across the track.

Actual service — daily trips up and down the line on weekends — begins Aug. 4.

CALVI, Corsica (AP) — Mrs. Elle Saucaquet, 61, director of the Catholic magazine La Vie Catholique Illustree, was found burned to death Sunday in the wake of a forest fire on the heights above this seaside resort. Mrs. Saucaquet managed the Catholic Information Center and was president of the National Catholic Press Center.

RUPTURE-EASER

For a wedding trip to an unannounced destination the bride wore a green eyelet cotton dress, tan accessories and wore a white rosebud corsage.

Prior to her marriage the bride was employed on the nursing staff of Samuel G. Dixon State Hospital, South Mountain. The bridegroom is the owner of Charter Bus Service in Emmitsburg.

The United States consumes about 270,000,000 gallons of water every day.

Let's Look At The Record

NEW BOOK ON CONGO
American Policies Are Unrealistic
Says Miss Schuyler, Brilliant Authoress

By JIM DAN HILL, Ph.D.
President, Wisconsin State College, Superior

THE CONGO was quiet. Peace appeared to have broken out. Mr. U Thant, of the U.N., was having trouble convincing bond buyers that so many millions are needed for "police forces."

There seems to be so much confidence in the U.N. police forces, provided by the small nations and paid for by the United States and England (Russia paying nothing), that Khrushchev had the temerity to suggest Poland and Czechoslovakia might provide troop replacements for Russian regiments in East Berlin; that Norway and Denmark do the same for NATO troops in West Berlin. Forthwith the Berlin Pandora's Box could thus be dumped into the lap of the U.N.

SUCH LOGIC for U.N. police forces is premature. For Berlin it would be a surrender. For the Congo there is no peace. There has never been more than an uneasy truce. There is not much the U.N., with or without the present weak force, can do about it except to spend more money, send in more troops; or let the Congolese work out their own political salvation by some sort of loose confederacy of more or less autonomous regions; and under their own national leaders.

BEFORE the Congo became dependent, in an effort to get ahead of the news, I did considerable advance reading. In a column written at the time, it was pointed out that the makings of a successfully unified nation did not exist in the Congo.

My research revealed no political unity other than the law and order handed down from Belgium and enforced by Belgian officials. The so-called political parties were merely tribal groupings in support of regional leaders. There was no natural economic unity; no geographic unity; and there was little linguistic unity other than the French in the Belgian laws, courts, business and management.

Much of this information as to lack of basic political unity came from an American State Department Information Study. It was apparently prepared as background material for our foreign service officers. The subsequent policy of the State Department left me wondering if the department read its own information bulletins.

NOW COMES FORTH Miss Philippa Schuyler, the daughter of the well known American Negro author and journalist, George Samuel Schuyler. She is a keen observer, lucid writer and talented musician. In explaining the Congo she has undertaken a far more difficult task than her father, in 1931, had in Liberia, as a special correspondent for a New York newspaper.

Her recent book, "Who Killed the Congo?" (Devlin-Adair, $5) is by a wide margin the best of the spate of books and articles that have sought to bring reason to the confused Congo story.

As a concert pianist and fluent linguist, particularly in French, Philippa Schuyler toured the Congo as a guest artist. But she met everybody everywhere. She asked cogent questions of all and sundry, including the late Patrice Lumumba. She no doubt made prompt and copious notes on informal thoughts of men who had no reason to think she might be writing a book. Some doors were open to her that would have been slammed in the faces of routine journalists.

In her opinion Lumumba was no rose; and no loss. America's backing him in any form or fashion obviously puzzled her. He was distrusted by his own people. The explanation she seems to have worked out for herself is that Americans automatically back the native leader everywhere who favorably gets to the American front pages first with the most headlines. The press initially made Lumumba look like a black George Washington. That was all the American State Department wanted to know; for in case of doubt in American politics it is always safest to follow a popular trend.

MISS SCHUYLER IS QUITE SURE the future welfare of the Congo rests in the hands of more or less tribal leaders for each region; areas that represent a major degree of geographical unity.

To her, Tshombe, of Katanga, more nearly complies with her concept of the kind of natural leader each major region of the Congo must have. She does not accept the story that he killed Lumumba. She can hardly fathom Kasavubu took Tshombe prisoner at a quasi-diplomatic conference in Coquilhatville. His acquiescence to unification was extorted from Tshombe. He renounced such coerced acceptance of unity once he was safe at home base back on his high plateau, which, tribally, economically and geographically, is tied to Rhodesia more than to the lower Congo.

It is Miss Schuyler's repeated opinion and firm conviction that there can be no unification in the Congo without a perpetual garrison of foreign troops. It is an excellent book.

MEANWHILE, the U.N. troops now there are too weak to be considered a real garrison. The major eruption can come any day.

Meanwhile, foreign troops are evidence of American imperialism, in the name of the U.N., because America is paying the bill. Russia is not. Thus Russia sustains, in the eyes of neutrals and Africans, the contention that America is an imperialistic power.

And U.N.'s U Thant is not helping by calling the Congo leaders a "bunch of clowns." Fifteen years ago his country was a British colony.

'62 EARNINGS REASSURING TO U.S. BUSINESS

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's 17 million shareowners may be unhappy about what happened to stock prices in the first half of 1962, but most of their companies increased their earnings over the previous year and maintained the rate of dividend payments.

A number of the largest corporations reported striking gains in net income after taxes and some set records.

True, much of the fat came in the first three months of this year. In the April-May-June quarter profits often turned lean or sagged. In many instances when sales went up, net income followed at a slower pace or didn't follow at all.

FEWER WILL LOSSES

But for the first six months of 1962, four out of five of 770 reporting companies increased their earnings. Their combined gain was 22.8 per cent over the first half of 1961 when the early months were in the bottom of the last recession. Only 148 of the 770 trailed 1961 figures. There were 32 reporting a net loss this year, against 55 a year ago.

Combined, the 770 had income after taxes of $5,636,561,000. In the first half of 1961, the same companies had total profits of $4,589,544,000.

Even so, many observers were disturbed by the showing. Mainly this was due to the slowdown in the second quarter from the first. To them it seemed clear that profits for the entire year would fall short of the goal set by the Kennedy Administration, some $56 billion before taxes, compared with $45 billion in 1961. Tight profit margins, even when sales were expanding, also clouded the earnings outlook for the second half of the year.

PRETTY REASSURING

Relaxed depreciation rules that will permit companies to deduct more for wear and tear will also cut earnings by just that much. This change in bookkeeping will show up in the second half of this year.

All of these considerations doubtless will be among those weighed by the administration as it makes its decision as to whether to ask Congress to lower the tax rate on corporate incomes as a stimulant to business.

But six months earnings statements viewed by themselves are pretty reassuring.

OILS' EARNINGS UP

Well ahead of a year ago was the motors group—General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American. All reported substantial gains.

The oils, out of favor with many stock traders well before the big price break, mostly moved higher in net earnings. Jersey Standard Oil, California Standard, Texaco, Socony-Mobil, Gulf, Atlantic Refining, Richfield, Tidewater and Continental were in the plus column. Going against this trend were Phillips Petroleum and Standard Oil (Ohio).

General Electric, Westinghouse, Zenith, Motorola, Carrier, Xerox, Polaroid, General Telephone & Electronics, Minneapolis-Honeywell and Thompson and Ramo Wooldridge all offered pleasing first half earnings gains.

In the chemicals, du Pont, Union Carbide, American Cyanamid, Hercules Powder and Rohm & Haas were among the gainers. Offsetting this were drops by Allied Chemical and Freeport Sulphur.

The tobaccos split neatly. R. J. Reynolds and U.S. Tobacco made more this year than last. Liggett & Myers and American Tobacco made less.

Steels mostly did better for the first half, but dropped in the second quarter. Railroads and airlines also showed a mixed pattern, as did the drug companies.

Loses His Freedom

By Scant 10 Yards

BERLIN (AP)—East and West Berlin guards with raised rifles faced each other across the wall Monday as police of the Communist regime nabbed a refugee 10 yards from the barrier.

No shots were fired, West Berlin police said.

West Berlin police at 4:15 a.m. spotted a man making his way toward the wall from the Communist side at Lohmuelen Platz, across from the Aerican sector. They saw the guards chasing him and heard them order him to halt.

He had almost reached the barrier when the East border guards caught him.

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Medical Association announced Monday that its council on drugs will make a comprehensive analysis of the effects of thalidomide on unborn infants.

The drug, mild sedative, has recently been suspected as the cause of widespread malformations in infants in Europe.

The council said the drug has been under clinical evaluation since 1956 but there have been so published reports of such malformations in trials conducted in the United States.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

Marie Killilea was walking along a beach one day. As a young wife with five children, she was deeply troubled with the problems of motherhood. Particularly since one child, a little girl, was affected by cerebral palsy. Then came a thought which she spoke aloud, "I don't know what the future holds, but I do know that God holds the future." She went on to tell me that, "...in the articulation of that phrase there was the essence of what had always been my faith. It would be used—it would be shared."

For twenty years she has used and shared that faith, not only with her daughter, Karen, but also in working with others affected by cerebral palsy, and with organizations, many of which she helped found. Her writings and especially her book on her experience with her daughter have given inspiration and courage to countless thousands of parents faced with the same or similar problems.

When I asked her for a definition of Karen's courage she said, "It is composed of two things—Faith and humor." Karen leads a purposeful and useful life helping to run the household and caring for a young sister, while her mother writes. She also handles the correspondence for the Foundation named for her.

HARPO KEEPS BUSY PLAYING VARIED ROLES

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The White House never had a musician like this.

There was Harpo Marx, in his usual baggy pants, plaid shirt and fright wig scampering around the executive mansion with wild abandon. But after assaulting the piano, he settled down to a serious rendition of "Red River Valley" on the harp and was congratulated by the President for the "vigor" of his presentation.

This was all make-believe, of course. It happened on the set of "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," a television series in which Fess Parker plays a senator adrift in the New Frontier. The President's voice is duplicated by an imitator, his face remaining unseen.

Harpo was no imitation. He was the real thing, and he was making a rare return to the movie stages he once roamed with brothers Groucho, Chico and, in the early days, Zeppo.

"This isn't like MGM," he grinned as the assistant director stood at his elbow to hustle him into a scene. Television schedules have the pace of a Marx Brothers movie.

So what is Harpo doing these days?

"I'll be working in this show and one with Red Skelton," the comedian reported. "Then I'll be doing a bunch of appearances with symphony orchestras. Those are strictly for fun, raising money for the orchestras; one of the concerts is getting $500 per seat."

"The rest of the time I spend in Palm Springs, where I live most of the year. I don't work too hard any more. Six or eight weeks a year is enough. I'm not a rich man, but I'm at the point where if I work any more, most of it would go to the government anyway."

"So I relax and do the things I like to do. I have no trouble keeping busy. We live across the street from a golf course. I've got my studio where I paint. And I still practice the harp two hours every day."

KIDS IN SCHOOL

"Until now we've always had children in school. But this year for the first time they'll all be away in college. So my wife and I might do a little traveling for a change."

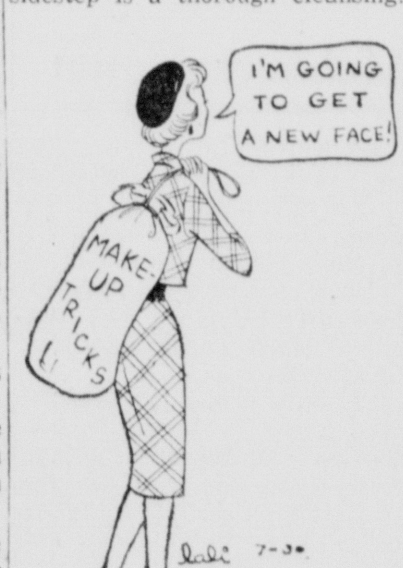

Harpo had brought with him one of his sons, Billy, a tall, dark-haired musician. He had helped his father learn his harp solo for the television show, "Red River Valley."

A Lovelier You

By MARY SUE MILLER

NEW FACES. At the end of a hot workday, many a woman sees a weary face in her mirror and longs for a fresh one. Well, there's where some of the following make-up tricks would perform wonders.

How many of them you use depends on how much time you have. But the one you must not sidestep is a thorough cleansing.

State make-up cannot be touched up. It always looks like a patched job.

So to remove your make-up with cosmetic cleanser, and then have a thorough suds-and-water facial. Wash with fairly hot water and thick lather. Then rinse and rinse with cold. Cleansing in that fashion is a beauty treatment in itself, for it helps to revive the skin's color and tone.

Now, with 10 minutes to spare, apply a suitable mask and lie down with cold compresses on your eyes. Given less time, pat on skin freshener or massage in a moisturizer; use eye drops to relieve strain.

Next comes make-up and the idea is to apply it sparingly. A heavy coat makes a tired woman look positively haggard. But that is not to say a mere whisk of foundation and powder will achieve

"I came in having learned the song from the sheet music," Harpo explained. "But it seems the song has gotten away from the printed version after years of being sung, and the TV people wanted the more recognizable version. Billy taught it to me."

Harpo not only brought his son, but his harp, the wig, the baggy costume plus and un-Harpo-like black silk suit with homburg. He wears the homburg in the film, but over the golden curls.

That's the way it is with him: When he's onstage, he is always mute with wig.

RUSH WORK ON NEARBY ROADS

Highway improvements in Frederick County worth more than $1½ million are due to be completed within the next few months, a spokesman for the Maryland State Roads Commission announced Saturday.

Three separate projects due to be completed and put into use are: Relocated U.S. 15 from Welly Rd., north of Emmitsburg, to the Pennsylvania line; relocation and rebuilding on Manahan Rd. from Foxville to a federal government housing development near Camp David, and the Catoctin Creek relocation on Route 340.

In addition to these projects, Thomas G. Mohler, district engineer for the State Roads Commission, said that resurfacing of Routes 15 and 97 through Emmitsburg should be completed this summer.

The only SRC project in the county which is not expected to be completed before the end of the year is the relocation and rebuilding of U.S. 15 from Lewisville to the southern end of the Thurmont bypass.

The project north of Emmitsburg, which comprises only about a half-mile of highway, is being done by the N. W. Etzler Company of Frederick. The contract price on this project is $179,618.25.

This relocated piece of roadway is to connect with a new highway which is being built in Pennsylvania. The new road is to bypass Gettysburg, it was reported. Considerable work on the new highway has already been done but the project is still far from the completion stage.

a rejuvenated effect. For success, follow these tips:

Before applying foundation, blank out little lines and shadows with a white or very light underbase. . . . Use the faintest touch of rouge and a pinker powder than usual. . . . Spark the lids with a pale shadow and the lips with bright color.

At the finish, you will be amazed at the transformation from wilt to lilt!

HEALTH SPAS FIGHT DIRTY AIR PROBLEM

By BOB WOOD

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The West—particularly the hot, dry deserts of Arizona and the cool mountains of Colorado—once was mecca for thousands suffering respiratory ailments.

They left the crowded cities of the East and Midwest and sought the sparsely populated areas with untainted air.

Communities nurtured by these health seekers began to grow at a phenomenal rate. Now these havens of health are combatting the same force that drove them: the sick from other parts of the nation.

DENVER AND PHOENIX

Take two examples—Denver, surrounded by the snow-covered Rockies, and Phoenix, an oasis in the American desert.

Denver has a growing air pollution problem.

Dr. William F. Spence of the University of Colorado medical school says pulmonary emphysema, a lung disease, is on the increase. Chronic bronchitis has shot upward in the last few years.

DIRTY AIR

Dr. Cyrus W. Anderson, past president of the Colorado Medical Society, says dirty air is aggravating sinus disorders and having a dangerous effect on the lungs.

And the worst is to come. A 1957 survey indicated that within eight years auto exhaust pollution would triple, industrial pollution would increase by a third, and household pollution would be up one fifth.

To battle this condition, Denver has restricted to certain hours burning of trash in home incinerators. The ordinance also prohibits industrial smoke of greater than specified density. But nothing has been done about auto exhaust fumes.

PERPETUAL HAZE

Phoenix is covered with an almost perpetual haze. From the downtown section, famed landmarks such as Camelback Mountain are lost behind the smoky mantle.

The larger counties—primarily Maricopa (Phoenix) and Pima (Tucson)—demanded action. But many smaller counties feared legislative action might be aimed at their copper smelters.

After a one-year delay, Arizona's legislature passed a measure permitting each county to combat air pollution on its own.

A U.S. Public Health Service study reported that Phoenix had the fourth dirtiest air in the nation, although this was disputed by several Arizona sanitary engineers.

The burning of trash has been curtailed in the Phoenix area. More and more streets are being paved to curb dust.

And state health department officials say, "we are only a few years away from nationwide use of suppression devices on all cars to combat exhaust fumes."

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A nine-member emergency medical team from the University of Pennsylvania flies to Algeria today for a month-long mission to help staff a hospital in the city of Algiers.

Headed by Dr. George D. Ludwig, associate professor of medicine, the team includes seven doctors and two technicians.

Woman Bartender Okayed By Court

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Is a lady's place in the home?

Not for Mrs. Kate Dinenberg, 56, a widowed taproom owner who says she has to tend bar because "I cannot afford two bartenders."

Monday Judge Joseph E. Gold upheld Mrs. Dinenberg, ruling that a lady who tends her own bar is no threat to public morals.

Judge Gold reversed a 10-day suspension imposed by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board on the bar. The board had claimed Mrs. Dinenberg was violating the state bar maid act, which says it is illegal to hire a woman to serve liquor behind a bar.

Gold said the act, which also outlaws b-girls, was written for "protection for the public welfare and morals" and clearly did not apply to Mrs. Dinenberg.

FREIGHTER AND BARGE COLLIDE

DETROIT (AP) — A British freighter lay a crippled hulk in the Detroit River after the ship and a barge collided Monday night.

The crash tore a great hole in the port (left) side of the 4,993-ton Montrose, and the freighter rolled onto that side as rescue boats removed 41 members of the crew without injury.

The 442-foot Montrose's foredeck was virtually submerged today. Her screw and rudder were high above the water.

She was held by her two anchors directly under the Ambassador Bridge, which links Detroit and Windsor, Ont.

3 STAY ABOARD

The captain, Ralph Eyre-Walker of Birkenhead, England, and the chief engineer, Richard Fowden of Manchester, England, and the first mate, Nathaniel Brownlee of Belfast, Ireland, remained aboard a time to protect the owner's interests.

The ship lay in about 35 feet of water, listing nearly 45 degrees to the left. Loud clattering and banging sounds occasionally could be heard as cargo shifted and gear broke loose and plunged to the low side of the ship.

The barge and the tug that was pushing it both escaped serious damage.

The Montrose is owned by Montreal Shipping of London and managed by Burles Markes Ltd. of London.

SHIPPENSBURG (AP) — State police reported Monday night that the decomposed body of an unidentified man was found in a wooded area along Route 11 at the eastern edge of Shippensburg.

Cumberland County Coroner Edward A. Haegele said the victim was carrying a Social Security card bearing the name of Arthur R. Miller of Carlisle.

He estimated the man had been dead approximately for three weeks, but said he had no indication as to the cause of the death. He said the man appeared to be about 37 years old.

GAS EXPLOSION TOLL REACHES 8; 4 CRITICAL

TROY, N. Y. (AP)—The death toll from a propane-gas truck explosion and fires in Berlin, N.Y., has risen to eight.

Four other persons remained in critical condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Sourdiff of Bennington, Vt., died within a few hours of each other Monday night at Mary Fletcher Hospital in Burlington, Vt.

WERE VISITING

Sourdiff, 53, and his wife, Doris, 32, had been visiting relatives in the hamlet when the tractor-trailer flew up last Wednesday.

Sourdiff's sister, Mrs. Victoria Loker, 43, of Berlin, died earlier Monday in Albany Medical Center Hospital.

The explosion set off fires that leveled 11 homes, a church and a barn.

DAUGHTER DIED

Mrs. Rosalie Loker, 80, died on Friday. A funeral service was being conducted for her when her daughter succumbed to burns.

Meanwhile, federal, state and local authorities continued a broad investigation into the cause of the disaster.

Other deaths were those of Robert J. McLucas, 39, of Pomroy, Pa., the truck driver; Mrs. Mabel Wagner, 77, who suffered a fatal heart attack after fleeing her home; and Kenneth McCumber, 51, and his wife, Florence, 55, whose house was closest to the blast.

McSherrystown

McSHERRYSTOWN — The bans of marriage were published for the first time Sunday in the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary Church between Larry E. Klunk, son of Mrs. Catherine Klunk, 330 Main St., and Miss Anna C. Murren, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Murren, R. 5.

A Brownie family picnic of the Annunciation Troops will be held Thursday starting at 5:30 p.m. at the Glacoe Lodge. Those who attend are to bring a basket lunch. There will be games and prizes.

Albright Lists Cage Tournament

READING—The second annual Albright College invitational basketball tournament, slated Friday night, December 28, and Saturday night, December 29, at the Albright field house, will be a highlight of the Lions' 1962-63 schedule.

The four entries include Williams College, defending champion; Rutgers University, the University of Rochester and Albright. Williams defeated Albright 67-62 in the finals last December. Rutgers downed Boston University 83-66 in the consolation game. Rochester replaces Boston U. in the tournament.

Albright will open its season Saturday night, December 1, when it meets Wilkes College at Wilkes-Barre, and then plays at Gettysburg on December 4.

CHANGE DATE OF SENTENCING

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Sentencing of Louis John (Lou) Brown, former University of North Carolina basketball player who pleaded guilty to game-fixing charges, has been delayed until Aug. 9.

Judge Henry A. McKinnon Jr. put off sentencing Monday, when solicitor Dan K. Edwards said three other defendants on similar charges will be called to trial in Durham Superior Court on that date.

Brown, 22, took the witness stand to tell how gambler Aaron Wagman of New York urged him to contact other team members to join in fixing games. Brown said he was introduced to Wagman by Jerry Vogel, a former University of Alabama player.

Wagman and Vogel are two of the defendants to be tried Aug. 9. The other is Joseph E. Greene of New York, Edwards said.

Greene's attorney reported his client will plead guilty.

Brown, a Jersey City, N.J., native, also is awaiting sentencing on similar charges in New York.

MISS SMITH WINS CROWN

HAVERFORD, Pa. (AP) — Margaret Smith of Melbourne, Australia, has emerged from the 63rd Pennsylvania Lawn Tennis Championships as a triple crown winner and today she seeks new laurels in the Eastern Championship at South Orange, N.J.

Miss Smith, champion of Australia, France, Italy and Switzerland, won the mixed doubles championship with Fred Stolle, a member of the Australian Davis Cup team, Monday.

The pair defeated Justina Bricks, St. Louis, and Eugene Scott, St. James, N.Y., 6-4, 6-2. Earlier in the tourney Miss Smith won the women's singles and doubles titles.

Householders Are Urged To Clean Freezers To Receive Season's Fruit, Vegetables

By MRS. HELEN D. TUNISON Extension Home Economist

Is your home freezer ready for its load of this season's fruits and vegetables? If it isn't the home economist suggests you check freezer now.

First, check a frost inside the freezer. If it's about a half inch thick on the walls of the freezer, it's time to defrost. Turn off the electric current, and as you remove food from the freezer take inventory.

Stack the packages in compact piles and cover with layers of newspaper or other insulating material.

Read the manufacturer's instruction book for specific directions for defrosting his product. You may scrape off excess frost with a rubber or wood spatula, but never use a sharp-pointed tool.

Another way to speed defrosting is to have an electric fan blowing air into the freezer if it's an upright model, or set the fan in a chest type model.

WASH YOUR FREEZER

When defrosted, wash the freezer — inside and out — and dry well. Turn on the electric current, close the freezer and allow it to run 30 minutes before replacing food packages. As you put them back, place the oldest packages in the front or in top spots so you use them before starting on this season's supply.

Put a touch of imagination in vegetable cookery and treat your family with old favorites in a new way. You can do this when you prepare and serve vegetables in a variety of ways.

To braise fresh zucchini, cabbage, broccoli, or spinach, cook minced onion in a little fat, and add chopped or sliced vegetable. Sprinkle vegetable with a few tablespoons of liquid, add seasonings, cover the utensil and steam until vegetable is tender, but still slightly crisp.

SIMILAR TO BRAISING The Chinese method of cooking vegetables is similar to braising. The Chinese use finely chopped vegetables, fat instead of water, and a quick heat source. The finished product has a fresh flavor, bright color, and crisp texture.

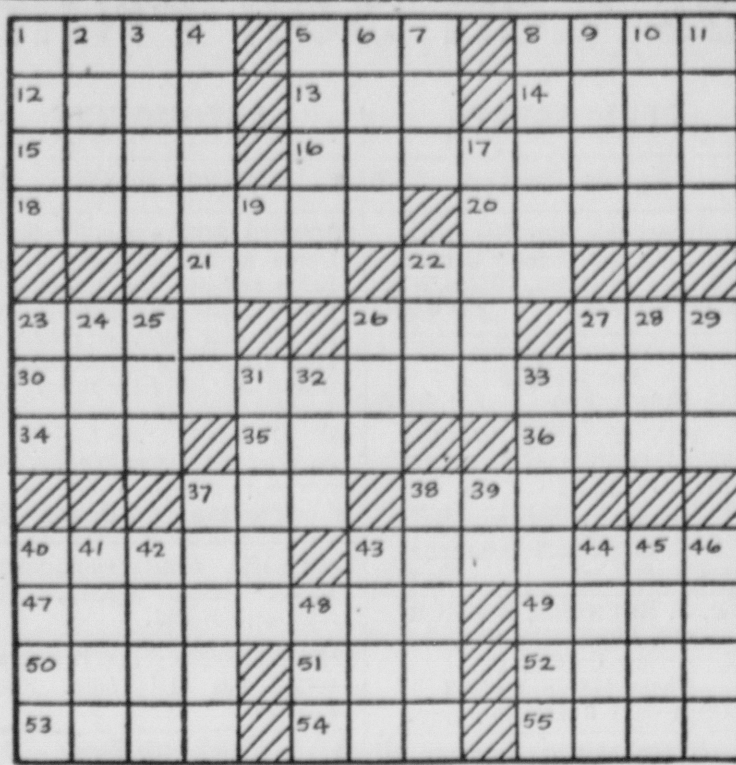

Use the oven to bake vegetables, especially when the oven is already in use. Carrots develop a new sweetness when baked in a covered dish with added seasoning, butter and a few tablespoons of water. Frozen vegetables are other candidates for oven-baking. Put frozen vegetables into a casserole, add seasonings, and cover the dish. Stir once during baking to mix seasonings.

A pinch of thyme, basil, rosemary, or other favorite herb adds a different flavor to fresh vegetables. Or try serving new combinations, such as Brussels sprouts with Parmesan cheese and tomato soup, green or wax beans and onion rings, or summer squash with tomatoes.

FRUIT STAINS

Promptness in removing fruit or grass stains can save time, energy and money. Many stains are easy to remove when fresh, but hard or impossible to remove later, especially if set by heat.

A stain removal method should be geared to both the fabric and stain, she points out. Before using a stain remover, decide if the stain remover will change the appearance of a fabric, test it first on a seam allowance, hem, inside of a pocket, or tail of a blouse or shirt.

WASH AND RINSE

To remove a fruit stain from a washable fabric, wash the stained area with a synthetic detergent, then rinse. If stain remains, use a bleach if safe for the fabric. Some fruit stains may be removed with boiling water poured from a height of one to three feet through the stain. Before using the hot water treatment, make sure it won't affect the fabric or color. On a non-washable fabric, sponge the stain with cold water first. If necessary, apply a liquid synthetic detergent to the stain, then rinse stained area only.

For a grass stain on a washable fabric, rinse stained area with cold water, then rub in synthetic detergent and wash. Bleach last traces of stain with hydrogen peroxide. On a nonwashable fabric, use the same procedure if color or will withstand the treatment. If garment must be drycleaned, identify the stain for the drycleaner.

HOLD HUFF RITES

Funeral services for Norman E. G. Huff, 67, New Windsor R. 1 who died Saturday at his home were conducted this morning from the Little's Funeral Home, Littlestown. The Rev. Elwood S. Falkenstein, pastor of the Grace Lutheran Church, Westminster, officiated. Interment was in the Mt. Carme Cemetery, Littlestown. Pallbearers were Truman Sauble, James Lockard, Frank R. Leidy, Joseph Leidy, James Swartzbaugh and Thomas Brown.

"It makes good sense to change to GAS heat and enjoy big savings"

says Ernest Mast, Grantsville, Md. Store Owner

$86.58 ELECTRIC BILL IN ONE MONTH! Electric heat was installed in Mr. Mast's new 40' x 70' furniture-appliance store late in 1960. "My winter electric bills ranged as high as $86.58 a month," reports Mr. Mast.

DEMAND METER INCREASES COST. Mr. Mast points out that in October, 1961, a demand meter was installed. "The electric bills were high enough before," says Mr. Mast. "But with the demand meter they were even higher." (Mr. Mast's combined November-December, 1961, electric bills were $20.80 higher as a result of the demand meter.)

GAS HEAT SAVINGS ADD UP! While Gas heat has been in operation just a short time, the savings are already mounting up. "And, I'm even heating an additional room," states Mr. Mast. "I'm looking forward to these Gas heat savings year after year."

GAS HEAT COMFORTABLE, CLEAN. "Because Gas heat is so economical, I can keep the entire store warmer, more comfortable. And I've noticed that the store stays cleaner," says Mr. Mast.

"When you consider how costly electric heat really is—and that it becomes even more costly when a demand meter is installed—it makes good sense to change to Gas heat," states Mr. Mast. "But it makes even better sense to install Gas heat in the first place. Then you can enjoy all the comfort, convenience and savings you want right from the start."

Gas heating can save you hundreds of dollars a year compared to electric heat. If you're now heating with Gas, you're already enjoying this big saving. If you're among the few using electricity, it's worth your while to consider changing.
